Guardrails

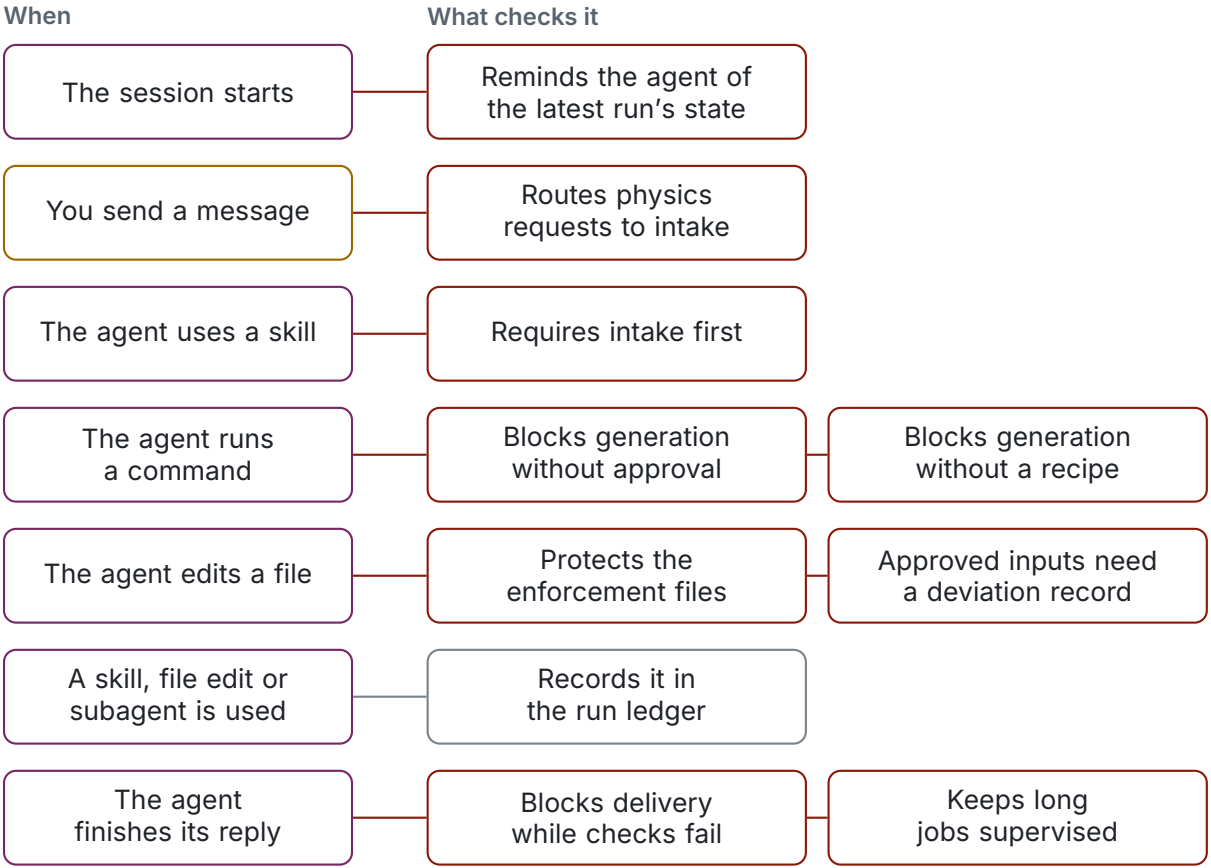
What checks the coding agent’s actions during a session.



Coding agents that support the repository’s hook settings apply these checks automatically. With other agents, the agent follows the same gates from the written instructions and runs each check itself, including the lifecycle validator before delivery; nothing enforces this automatically.