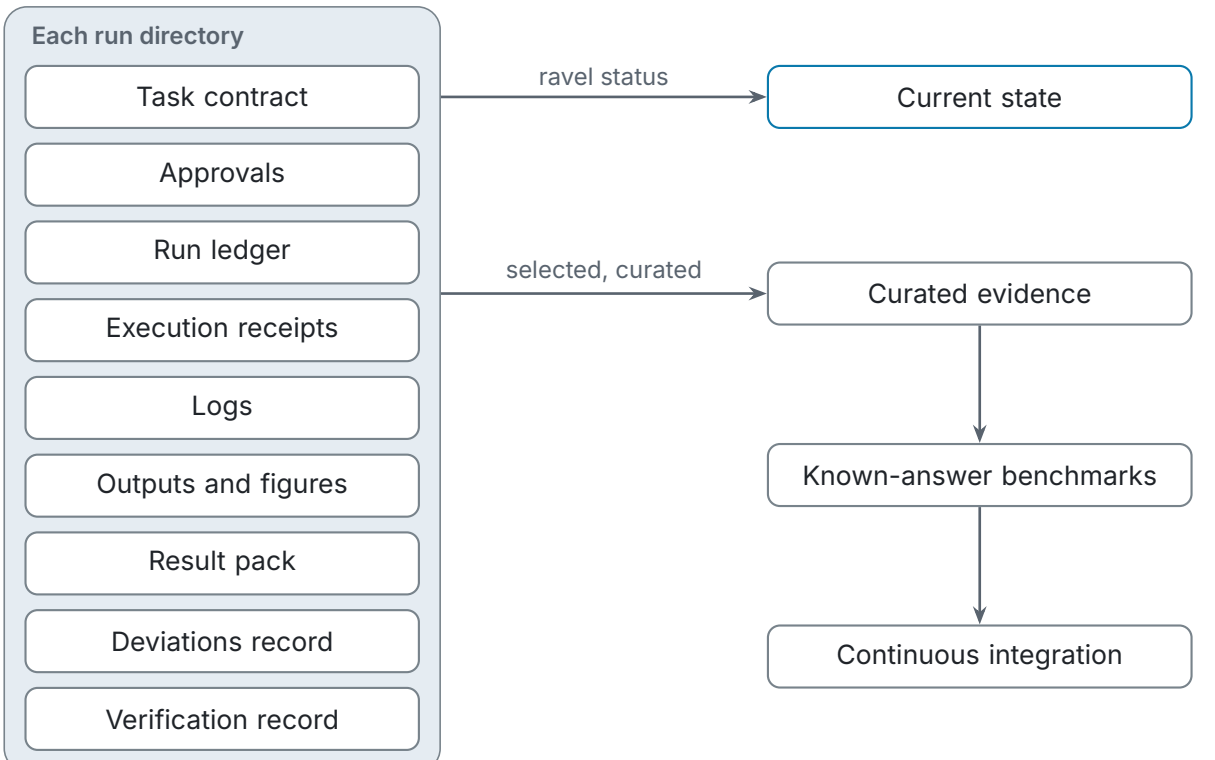
Records and evidence

What every run keeps, and how selected records become evidence.



The current state is always rebuilt from the run's own records, so a run can be resumed at any time. Curated evidence is pinned by checksum. Continuous integration fails when a marked headline number in the README or the validation results no longer matches the claim registry.